- We provide the opportunity to share good practice - encouraging learning and development together with other local authorities.

"I am so glad that we have been involved with Bright Spots, there is some really good feedback for us and clarity about the things we need to do better. Our young people are amazing and they deserve and have every right to the very best care and support."

What makes Bright Spots different?

- It's the largest survey of its kind, giving more children in care & care leavers in a local authority the chance to share their experiences, and it compares your local findings to other local authorities and the general population.
- Co-produced with young people, this joint Coram Voice and University of Bristol programme is based on what 140 young people in care said was important to them.
- It is strongly evidence based – the survey is a robust research tool, developed over 4 years of research. It is comparative to national data, draws on two international literature reviews & piloting with cognitive interviews to test questions.
- It's quick & easy to use and we can guarantee confidential & secure data handling.

Helping you improve your service

- We work with you to ensure the best possible response rates are achieved for your survey.
- On completion, we carry out a detailed analysis and furnish you with a bespoke summary report, which highlights your Bright Spots (where you are doing well) and areas and recommendations for improvement.

We are grateful to the Hadley Trust for subsidising our programme. This allows us to offer the Bright Spots package for a reduced fee of £4,400 for one survey (£7,800 for both surveys). 10% discount for smaller local authorities or repeat surveys.
